CHARITABLE GIVING: A NEW DEVELOPMENT IN THE PROPERTY WORLD

It's not often that you hear of property developers giving their profits to charity. But Charlotte Grobien, below, aims to change all that. She has founded a company, Give it Away, that develops houses in London and abroad, and then gives ALL the profit to children's and young people's charities. 'I have selected charities that are not receiving major, if any, statutory funding and rely heavily on donated funds,' says Charlotte. Altruistic suppliers have donated services for free which means that more money can go to the needy. If you'd like more information or are in a position to offer some help, have a look at Charlotte's website, give-it-away.co.uk
