

Entrepreneur helps set up club for partially sighted kids

ONE OF THE LONGEST ESTABLISHED CHARITIES to help visually impaired people, Action for Blind People, has helped establish a sports club in West London dedicated to partially sighted children. Our picture shows Charlotte Grobien, the sponsor of the club and founder of Give It Away Ltd – which aims to help children and young people in need - with nine-year-old Mohammad. The fortnightly club, at the Kensington Leisure Centre, was founded by social entrepreneur Ms Grobien, and Action for Blind People, the charity which was first established 150 years ago.
